BANKING IN 1918.

FURTHER EXPANSION IN DEPOSITS.

The year 1918 was a year crowded with events, such as a silver crisis, a rise in exchange, a failure of the monsoon over wide areas, a virulent epidemic of influenza, and, last but not least, an unusual vigour in the production of munitions for export to the Allies. Our overseas trade in merchandise during the calendar year 1918 was nearly R418 crores (£279 millions) as against R389 crores (£259 millions) in 1917, and R426 crores (£284 millions) in the pre-war year 1913. The year's imports of merchandise were in point of value 10 per cent above those of the preceding year but 10 per cent below when compared with the pre-war year. In exports the increase was one of 6 per cent as against 1917 and 4 per cent as against 1913. The main changes in imports were the increases, as compared with the preceding year, in cotton twist and yarn, sugar 16 D. S. and above, steel bars and channels, and raw cotton, and the decreases in coloured cotton piece-goods, motor cars and motor cycles, and iron or steel sheets and plates.

Money Market conditions.

The march of events from the banking viewpoint is well summed up by Sir James (now Lord) Merton, the Hon'ble Finance Member of Council, as follows :— “At the commencement of the year the markets generally were inclined to be nervous, not merely on account of the military situation, but also particularly because of the approach of the April cotton settlement at Bombay, where the speculative transactions involved had been unusually large. Prices of cotton had risen; a squeeze for money was threatened in Bombay; and those heavy speculators whose anticipations had been falsified by events appealed to Government to intervene by fixing a maximum price to protect them from loss, declaring that unless this step was taken a general financial debacle was inevitable. Government decided that the circumstances did not justify their intervention, and in point of fact the settlement was attended by no serious crisis, and as usually happens in Bombay the period of tight money rapidly passed away. * * * The receipt of the war loan proceeds and the absence of any substantial trade demand caused the percentages of cash to liabilities in all three Presidency Banks to improve throughout July. Before the end of August, however, the Bank of Bengal began to feel the demand for the finance of jute. * * * Owing to higher prices and possibly also to the fact that many firms had invested heavily in the loan, the Bank's jute advances were fairly large, and from the end of July their cash percentage steadily fell. The Bank of Bombay's cash continued to increase during August, but after that month the effect of the disbursements by Government of the large ways and means advances taken from the Bank made itself felt, and the cash dropped from R14 crores at the end of August to R9½ crores at the end of October. Simultaneously the Bank of Bengal's cash had steadily decreased from R15 crores at the end of August to R9 crores by the first week in November, and both Banks accordingly then raised their rate from 5 per cent, at which it stood since May, to 6 per cent. The Bank of Madras, which had temporarily reduced its rate to 6 per cent on the 6th August, followed suit by raising its rate to 7 per cent on the 11th November. The low level at which the cash of the Banks of Bengal and Bombay stood during last autumn, as compared with 1917, and the growing tightness of money during the later months with its inevitable reaction on the ability of Government to finance themselves by temporary borrowing, have been the most noteworthy feature of the money market conditions during the year. These were in marked contrast to the conditions of the preceding year.”

Clearing House Returns.

Clearing House returns bring out the remarkable activity in banking during the year. There was a rise in the clearings in all the five chief ports, and except in Madras these clearings were a new high record.

Cheques cleared from Clearing Houses

| | Pre-war year (1913) | Last year (1917) | Year under review (1918) |
|--------------------|------------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|
| | R(lakhs) | R(lakhs) | R(lakhs) |
| Calcutta | 3,33,02 | 4,71,93 | 7,44,17 |
| Bombay | 2,19,30 | 3,36,54 | 5,33,62 |
| Madras | 23,56 | 22,84 | 24,56 |
| Karachi | 12,49 | 20,27 | 24,29 |
| Rangoon | 61,98 | 49,66 | 69,27 |
| Total | 6,50,35 | 9,01,24 | 13,95,91 |

There was thus an increase in the total of 55 per cent, as against the previous year, and of 115 per cent, as against the pre-war year. The returns of the last twelve years are set out in table 20. These figures are of more than ordinary interest, since they indicate the growth of transactions which result from the daily transfer throughout the year of a huge amount of credit from one party to another. It need hardly be said that behind each of these cheques is the right to demand legal tender from the bank on which it is drawn, and this means that prudent bankers have to make an allowance for cash demands involved in this creation of credit.

Dividends of the Big Banks.

The year's banking results are brought out in the dividends of banks for 1918. Of the fifteen banks referred to below nine declared higher dividends than in the previous year. The remaining banks paid the same dividends as in 1917.

Cash Balances.

As will be seen from table 5, cash balances at the end of 1918 were 29 per cent of the liabilities on deposits in the case of the Presidency Banks, 20 per cent in the case of Exchange Banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India, and 116 per cent in the case of those Banks doing business all over Asia. The percentage for Indian Joint Stock Banks is 24. The fluctuations in the proportion per cent of cash to liabilities on deposits illustrate how the requirements for safety of the different classes of banks must always vary, just as do the requirements of the same class of banks at different times.

* The Bank of Rangoon was amalgamated with the Alliance Bank of Simla, Ltd., in 1917.

Bank Rates.

The Presidency Bank rates during 1918 were at 6 per cent in January in the Banks of Bengal and Bombay and 7 per cent in the Bank of Madras. These rates also prevailed at the close of the year. The fluctuations in the rate during the year are given in table 15. The difference between the maximum and minimum rates in the last six years was as follows :—

| | 1913 (Pre-war year) | 1914 | 1915 | 1916 | 1917 | 1918 |
|----------------|------------------------|------|------|------|------|------|

| Bank of Bombay | 4 | 3 | 1 | 4 | 3 | 1 |
| Bank of Madras | 2 | 3 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 1 |

The maximum and minimum rates during the last six years were as follows :—

| Bank, | 1913 (Pre-war year) | | 1914 | | 1915 | | 1916 | | 1917 | | 1918 | |

| Bank of Madras | 7 | 5 | 7 | 4 | 7 | 5 | 8 | 6 | 8 | 6 | 7 | 6 |

The average rates of the three banks in each year from 1870 are given in table 14. The difference shown above of only one per cent between the maximum and minimum in the bank rates of all three Presidency Banks in 1918 should not pass unnoticed.

Increase in Deposits.

It will be seen from the table below that although the deposits in the Presidency Banks decreased in the year under report as compared with the preceding year, the total deposits in all the banks have steadily increased during the last thirty years, the only set-back being in 1914, the first year of war. The deposits of the Exchange Banks refer to Indian deposits only.

Banking results.

In the following table are compared the principal items in the balance sheets of the three classes of banks. The figures for the Exchange Banks and the Indian Joint Stock Banks relate to those banks for which figures for both 1917 and 1918 are available, namely, 9 Exchange Banks and 40 Indian Joint Stock Banks. The principal items in the balance sheets of the three Presidency Banks are shown separately :—

| Banks. | Deposits, etc. | | Cash in hand, at bankers, etc. | | Investments. | | Bills discounted, etc. | |

While deposits and investments showed a decrease, as compared with the previous year, in the case of the Presidency Banks, there was a considerable increase in the case of the Indian Joint Stock Banks and the Exchange Banks. Cash in the case of the Presidency Banks, after an abnormal increase in 1917, fell to the level of 1916 ; it also fell appreciably in the case of the Exchange Banks, but in the case of Indian Joint Stock Banks, there was a considerable increase.

Presidency Banks.

An examination of the statements of accounts of the Presidency Banks (see tables 1, 10, 11 and 12) reveals the fact that Government or public deposits in 1918 increased, while private deposits decreased. Cash balances and reserves were also less than in 1917. The table below summarises the capital, reserves, deposits, and cash balances of the three Presidency Banks regarded as one bank.

Since the date to which the table refers the proposal of amalgamating the three banks has arisen. The following remarks of the Hon'ble Finance Member are interesting in this connexion.

Amalgamation of Banks.—“ Practically as soon as the Armistice was declared, the three Presidency Banks came together, and when Sir James Meston went to Bombay he was confidentially approached by them as to the way in which the Government would look on the question of their amalgamation. * * * Some informal discussions with the Banks followed, and they eventually put before us a scheme which we have passed on with our observations to the Secretary of State. * * * The development of banking facilities was put forward as the basis of our discussion with the Banks, and they have undertaken, if this scheme goes through, to put before themselves the ideal of opening a branch in every district in India, and have further undertaken, within the first five years, to open no less than 100 branches in different districts, of which Government shall have the option of nomination 25 per cent. * * * It would be out of place for me to go in any detail into the new arrangements which the Banks have proposed, and which we are inclined to favour, because they have still to be approved by the Secretary of State and to be laid before the shareholders of the Banks. I may say, however, that they contemplate that the new Bank should have at the top a Central Board, which should have on it representatives of all the Banks. That Board, however, could not meet weekly or daily as would be required of a managing agency. The representatives could naturally not be continuously absent from their local section of the new Bank where they would be required in order to carry on their own business. There will, therefore, have to be a smaller working body or Executive Board for current management. The spheres of the local boards of the new banks will at first correspond to the existing spheres, that is to say, Bombay, Madras, and Calcutta. On the Central Board with representatives of these will be associated the Controller of Currency. The Central Executive Board will consist of three or four representatives, of whom one will be the Controller of Currency. It is proposed that the Controller of Currency will, apart from being a member of this Board, have power to require the Board to hold up any matter which he may consider to be of vital importance as affecting either the financial policy of Government or the safety of its balances.”

The Exchange Banks.

The aggregate paid up capital and reserves of the ten Exchange Banks doing business in 1918 amounted to £39 millions, while the deposits in India alone of those banks and their cash balances in India were £41 millions and £15 millions, respectively. The position in 1918, as compared with other war years and the pre-war year 1913, was as follows :—

| | Number of Banks. | Capital, reserve and rest | Deposits in India | Cash balances in India |
|---------------------|------------------|---------------------------|-------------------|------------------------|
| 1913 (pre-war year) | 12 | £(1,000) | £(1,000) | £(1,000) |

In table 6 the returns of Exchange Banks have been classified into two groups, namely, (1) banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India, and (2) banks which are agencies of large banking corporations doing business all over Asia. It will be seen that the deposits in India of the first group were in 1918 nearly five times those of the second group.

(a) Excluding the Deutsche-Asiatische Bank which went into liquidation after the outbreak of war.

(b) Excluding the Delhi and London Bank which was amalgamated with the Alliance Bank of Simla (which is an Indian Joint Stock Bank and included in Table 3).

(c) Excluding the Russo-Asiatic Bank information not being available.

(d) Including the Bank of Taiwan which opened a branch in India.

Indian Joint Stock Banks.

Indian Joint Stock Banks are dealt with in tables 3, 7, and 17. There are 93 Indian Joint Stock Banks with 206 branches and agencies chiefly scattered throughout the North-West of India, especially in the Punjab and the United Provinces. The tables in this volume deal with only those banks (47 with 197 branches) which have a minimum paid-up capital and reserve of one lakh of rupees. These banks are sub-divided into two classes, namely, (i) those with a paid up capital and reserve of R5 lakhs and over, and (ii) the more or less pigmy banks with a paid up capital and reserve between one lakh and less than R5 lakhs. The aggregate paid-up capital and reserves of these 47 banks in 1918 amounted to R6,65 lakhs, the deposits to R42,15 lakhs, and cash balances to R9,85 lakhs, as stated below :—

| 1918 . . . | 19 | 6,02 | 40,59 | 9,49 | 28 | 63 | 1,55 | 37 |

Other Banks.

In addition to these banks there are the Post Office Savings Banks with over a million and a half depositors and about R19 crores or over £12 millions sterling on deposit. The detailed statistics relating to these banks will be found in table 19 on page 25. There are also Co-operative Credit Banks registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, the capital and reserves in 1917-18 amounting to R3½ crores and the deposits (including loans held by the banks) to R11 crores.

Towns without banks.

The number of towns in India in which banks and their branches are situated is 176, or 25 per cent of the total number of towns in India having each a population of 10,000 and over, according to the census of 1911. There are 75 towns with a population of 50,000 and over. In 59, or 79 per cent, of these towns there are banks. In the remaining 16 towns there are no banking facilities. The table below shows the number of Head Offices and Branches of the banks in India.

Banks and Branches and Agencies in 1918

| Banks | Head offices | Branches and agencies |
|---|--------------|-----------------------|
| (1) Presidency Banks— Bank of Bengal | Calcutta | 26 |
| " " Bombay | Bombay | 18 |
| " " Madras | Madras | 24† |
| Total | 3 | 68 |
| (2) Exchange Banks | † | 48 |
| (2) Indian Joint Stock Banks | 93 | 206 |
| GRAND TOTAL | 96 | 322 |

† There are 11 Exchange Banks, of which the head offices are situated out of India.
† Excludes the branch of the Bank in Colombo.

There are altogether 96 head offices and 322 branches. The location of the head offices and branches of the banks is shown in the map, and Appendix I gives a list of the banks and their branches in India with the names of the towns in which they are situated and Appendix II the names of London Offices, agents, or correspondents of certain banks and banking firms doing business in India.

Bank failures.

In table 18 will be found a complete list of the unfortunate failures which have taken place since 1913. With few exceptions the failures were confined to pigmy banks having a small paid-up capital. From 42 in 1914 the number of failures in 1918 fell to 7, two of which were in the Bombay Presidency and two in Bengal.

| Year | Number of banks liquidated | CAPITAL | | |
|-------------------|----------------------------------|------------|------------|-----------|
| | | Authorised | Subscribed | Paid-up |
| 1913 (two months) | 12 | R(1,000) | R(1,000) | R (1,000) |
| 1914 | 42 | 2,74,00 | 1,64,56 | 35,13 |
| 1915 | 11 | 7,09,70 | 2,45,48 | 1,09,02 |
| 1916 | 13 | 56,50 | 7,80 | 4,51 |
| 1917 | 9 | 2,30,90 | 20,90 | 4,23 |
| 1918 | 7 | 76,50 | 35,75 | 25,26 |
| | | 2,09,50 | 4,86 | 1,46 |

The capital and deposits of each bank will be found in table 18. The paid-up capital of the banks which failed in 1918 amounted to R1,46,000, the subscribed capital R4,86,000, and the authorised capital R2,09,50,000. It is noteworthy that the total paid-up capital of the failed banks amounted to little over $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of their aggregate authorised capital.

Miscellaneous tables.

At the request of several banks tables have been added to show:—

- (1) The movement of treasure, the amount of Councils paid, and the balance of trade [tables 22 and 25]
- (2) The absorption of rupees [table 23]
- (3) The absorption of gold, coin as well as bullion [table 24]
- (4) Government balances [table 21]
- (5) Silver purchases and silver coinage [table 22], and
- (6) the per capita deposits in the Presidency Banks [table 13]

Appendices have been inserted to show:—

- (1) the Banks in the principal towns
- (2) London offices, agents or correspondents of banks and banking firms doing business in India
- (3) Government treasuries which issue and cash bills, and
- (4) the deposits of the principal Banks of the world.

The banking map shows at a glance the banking position in India. The red circles (unfortunately) refer not to branch banks but only to Government treasuries. The blue circles refer to towns which have a population of 50,000 or over but have no banks.

the number of species. The world is full of small organisms which are not easily classified. A great many insects and tiny crustaceans are not yet known. There are many more species of plants and animals than have been described. Insects have been described in great numbers, but there are still many more to be discovered.

The study of living things is called biology. Biology is the study of living things and their environment. It is the study of all forms of life and of the relationships between them. Biology is divided into several branches. One branch is zoology, which studies animals. Another branch is botany, which studies plants.

The field of biology is very broad and it is impossible to cover all of its subjects fully. There are many sub-fields and branches of biology.
Insects are one of the main branches of biology. Insects are small creatures that live in almost every environment. They are found in forests, deserts, mountains, and oceans. They are also found in houses, gardens, and parks.

Insects are important to the environment. They help to pollinate flowers and plants. They also help to control pests. Insects are used in medicine to treat diseases. They are also used in agriculture to control pests. Insects are important to the environment.

(a) The statistics in this column have been compiled from the "Home Accounts" and the "Finance and Revenue Accounts" of the Government of India. The figures represent the actual payments made by the Secretary of State for India on account of silver purchased by him, and not the amount of silver contracted for by him during the year.

(b) The figures in this column represent the value of rupees, half-rupees, quarter rupees and one-eighth rupees struck in the mints in each year. In 1918 one eighth silver rupees were not struck in the mints.

(c) Excludes payment made in India, but includes £24,037,967 for purchase in America under the Pittman Act.

* Excludes payment made in India which in 1916-17 amounted to £1,810,949 and in 1917-18 to £605,079.

† The publication of these figures has been temporarily discontinued.
