Financial.

SIR,

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of the Income-tax Statements of the Punjab for the year 1917-18 received with your letter No 531-165-I, dated 29th July 1918.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

A. C. BADENOCH,

*Under-Secretary to Government, Punjab,

No. 531-165-I.

FINANCIAL COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
Lahore, dated 29th July 1918.

FROM

KHAN BAHADUR SHEIKH FAZL KARIM,

Junior Secretary to the Financial Commissioners, Punjab,

To

THE HON'BLE MR. O. F. LUMSDEN, I.C.S.,

Financial Secretary to Government, Punjab.

The Hon'ble Mr. C. J. Hallifax, C.B.E., I.C.S.

SIR,

I AM directed to forward the income-tax statements for 1917-18 exclusive of super-tax already reported in February 1918, and to convey the following remarks of the Financial Commissioner.

2. Assessments in 1917-18 were based on the profits made in the year 1916-17 which agriculturally was much better than its immediate predecessor. Prices ruled high in the case of both agricultural and industrial products. The interruption of railway traffic gave an opportunity to dealers in certain commodities—e.g., salt—to secure extraordinary profits. Imported goods commanded a very lucrative market. Certain classes of contractors were very successful. High wages enabled consumers to buy freely. Improved methods of assessment in a number of districts affected the collections of the year. These amounted to Rs. 32,37,375 or 34 per cent. more than in the last year of the preceding triennium.

General results.

3. The figures under the head of salary paid by Government show a rise of 127 in the number of assessees and a fall of Rs. 654 in the amount of collections. The figures are not final as supplementary statistics under this head are usually communicated by the Accountant-General, such as have been included in the totals for 1916-17. The figures are no doubt affected by the transfer to Military service of a considerable number of civil officers of the higher grades. Collections under the head of salary by local authorities and by companies show an increase both in the amount and the number of assessees. The rates of salaries have in some cases been raised and a number of salaries has been newly brought under assessment. In the case of companies the collections under section 9 (1) increased by 51 per cent., the districts of Lahore and Simla being responsible for the increase. Arrangements for collection under section 9 (2) worked satisfactorily, but there was no noticeable increase in the tax collected under them.

4. Not less than 18 companies assessed in 1916-17 paid no tax in 1917-18, but these were unimportant—mainly small concerns in Multan. On the other hand,

Profits of Companies.
five companies were newly taxed and some previously assessed made large profits. Accordingly the profits of Companies yielded a tax amounting to Rs. 4,38,215, a satisfactory increase on the previous year's total of Rs. 1,40,666. Lahore, which collected the tax not only from local companies but also from the Dhariwal Mills, accounts for over 80 per cent. of the collections. Two companies in Simla and one in Rawalpindi paid each about Rs. 15,000 as tax. In the rest of the Province the collections amounted to only 5 per cent. of the total.

5. The amount realized under this head increased by nearly 50 per cent., and the tax realized on the securities of companies, etc., was nearly doubled. The tax on the debentures of seven companies was duly realized in the year except in the case of a Rawalpindi Company, which on account of a misunderstanding was late in its payment. A report, however, received from the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies indicates that there was an eighth company which had issued debentures and as the taxation of these has not been noted in the district report, enquiries are being made into the matter.

Interest on securities.

6. Under part IV collections amounting to Rs. 21,84,701 were made from 35,917 assessees. On the previous year's Income from other sources. figures this amounts to an increase of 28 per cent. in collections and of 16 per cent. in the number of assessees. On examining the assessment in 4 groups, viz., on (i) assessees with incomes under Rs. 2,000, (ii) those whose incomes are from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 10,000, (iii) those with from Rs. 10,000 to Rs. 20,000 and (iv) those with Rs. 20,000 or more, a slight change in the proportions appears, which, though slight, is a change in the right direction. The figures are as follows:—

Group.	ASSEESSES.			TAX COLLECTED.
	Per cent. in each group.		Increase per cent. in 1917-18.	Per cent. from each group.		Increase per cent. in 1917-18.
	1916-17.	1917-18.		1916-17.	1917-18.
(i) ... ... ...	75	72.5	+ 12	35.5	31.5	+ 14
(ii) ... ... ...	23.7	26	+ 27	89.5	40	+ 29
(iii) ... ... ...	1	1.1	+ 48	10	11	+ 45
(iv) ... ... ...	0.3	0.4	+ 50	15	17.5	+ 51

In group (iii) there are still only 415 assessees and in group (iv) only 162. It can hardly be the case that there are only about 600 incomes of Rs. 10,000 or over assessable under Part IV in the Punjab and these figures confirm the universal opinion of Collectors that while men with small incomes are fairly well assessed those with large incomes escape their fair share of the burden of the tax.

7. Nearly seven per cent. of the original demand was remitted on Original and final demands. objections and appeals and 22 per cent. of the objections were successful. A detailed discussion of these figures, which varied from district to district, is unnecessary. The number of objections and appeals has heretofore been influenced by factors other than over assessment and is not a true index of the accuracy of the original assessment. Moreover, under Act VII of 1918, which will now govern assessments, the procedure relating to objections and appeals will be radically altered. In the case of the majority of the assessee— $\frac{3}{4}$  of the whole number—whose incomes are below Rs. 2,000, the assessment should be made finally by the Collector, with no further objection or appeal. The right of petition to the Commissioner will be retained by only about  $\frac{1}{4}$  of the total number of assessees.

8. Uncollected balances amount to the considerable sum of Rs. 4,30,262 including Rs. 3,18,252 assessed under Part IV in 1917-18. The large outstanding in Amritsar,

Lahore, Simla and Ambala were the result of the delay in assessment and decision of objections due to the employment of the special assessing agency which had to take up several districts in succession. In the case of Ludhiana delay was due to a house-to-house survey undertaken by the local staff. But no good reason for delay is advanced in a number of districts in which the balances exceed Rs. 5,000 each. The Deputy Commissioner of Montgomery remarks that assessees are inclined to delay payment as long as they can because they can get high rates of interest on their money in the market. From remarks made in certain district reports regarding individual assessees who are in arrears it appears that a very large part of the balances is due from 14 individuals. Most apparently were awaiting the results of objections and appeals, but if assessees especially of the higher classes are not prompt in paying the tax there should be no hesitation in imposing penalties on them and making recovery by the prescribed process. In the case of Multan the penalty of Rs. 510 and probably also the tax for which it was imposed are still unpaid ; whilst about Rs. 300 penalty is still outstanding both in Montgomery and Mianwali.

9. A special assessment staff of 4 Naib-Tahsildars, 2 Munims, 2 clerks and 6 peons was employed in 1917-18 under Special Income-Tax Agency. Rao Bahadur Pandit Girdhari Lal, Extra Assistant Commissioner. It assessed the towns of Lahore, Amritsar, Dalhousie, Jullundur City and Cantonment, Hoshiarpur, Ambala City and Cantonment, Karnal, Simla and Kasauli. The special staff, which cost only Rs. 20,081 secured an increase of the final demand from Rs. 6,25,521 to Rs. 10,08,170. In one or two districts it has been criticised because of the lateness of its assessments, which resulted in arrears at the end of the year, but this was inevitable, and Rao Bahadur Girdhari Lal deserves great credit for the success with which he controlled the working of the special staff. The results secured by it indicate the extent to which the tax is evaded where special care and attention are not paid to assessment. In the near future a very considerable strengthening of our assessing agency will be urgently required. A beginning has been made in the current year by the appointment of four units of special agency, each under a selected Extra Assistant Commissioner, to assess the principal urban areas of the Province. This special staff will, however, be late in getting to work and will be confronted with special difficulties in putting Act VII of 1918 into operation. Mr. Hallifax is preparing a handbook which will be of help to them and others. The advice and guidance of Rao Bahadur Pandit Girdhari Lal, who continues during the present year on special duty, will be utilized in making the best use of this extra staff whose assessments will be based on a house-to-house survey of the towns in which they are employed.

10. But whatever system of assessment is adopted the Tahsildar and

Notice of officers. Naib-Tahsildar are bound to play a very important part in it. Mr. Hallifax does not include in this review the names of officers who have been singled out for commendation or censure in the district reports, because it is obvious that the mention of officers in different reports is not regulated by any uniform standard. In one district mentions are numerous ; in the next there are none. It is, however, worth remark that two of the officers whose assessments seem most open to criticism were Tahsildars on the point of retirement who were either for that reason more than usually careless or took the opportunity to pay off grudges. This indicates the necessity for closer supervision, as does the general tenour of district reports, that the ordinary assessing agency does not fully realise its responsibility in connection with Income-Tax work and is inclined to put it into the background. It is, however, an important part of the duty of the Tahsil staff constantly to collect all information bearing on assessments, to devote continued and systematic attention to this matter, not to deal with it spasmodically and only under the compulsion of special pressure, and to make full notes of observations. In order that the Tahsil staff should appreciate this, their Income Tax work should be a factor in determining their prospects. Mr. Hallifax is therefore considering a suggestion that a special confidential report should be submitted as is done in the case of judicial and land revenue work, setting forth the opinion of the Collector and Commissioner as to the efficiency of the income-tax work done by each officer engaged in it, and that such work should be systematically noted in Character Rolls.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

FAZL KARIM,

Junior Secretary to the Financial Commissioners, Punjab.
